

AMUSEMENTS.

THE NEW CHESTNUT STREET THEATRE.—Charles Dickens' great novel, 'Our Mutual Friend,' having been dramatized for this theatre, will be produced for the first time in this country this evening, with a cast embracing Miss Josie Orton, Messrs. P. F. Macken, E. L. Titton, W. H. Baker, James Taylor, S. Dubois, Miss C. Jefferson, Mr. Keach, and little Katie Baker. The piece will be placed upon the stage in splendid style, and will have as fine a run as 'Baccarat.'

NEW WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—The wonderful 'Bridley Faring' is being very fully and successfully performed at this theatre, and when it is most flattering. Monsieur Henri Azouet, the great conjurer, athlete, physical juggler, and panomist, and Madame Peristera, the premiere danseuse and light-rope performer, are the favorites of the late season's children. The tableaux of the 'Watchers,' 'America,' and 'Shower of Gold' are wonderfully beautiful, and a warmly endorsed each evening by the entire audience. The 'Niagara Leap' of the young Bridley Faring, and the 'Spiral Mountain Peak' by Bridley Faring, are too fearful for female contemplation, but their artistic execution is keenly appreciated by the firmer sex. A very pleasant comic pantomime concludes the performance each evening.

THE NEW AMERICAN THEATRE.—This establishment is doomed to disappointment, it would appear. Last evening one Stuart Robson, a low comedian, who had been engaged as a star, was taken with a sudden paralysis for visiting his friends in the city. The result was that the time for the performance was lost, and the announcement was made that the star set down in the bills and bonds could not be found. The resources of the theatre were at once tested, and an excellent change performance promptly improvised. The absence of the comedian's friends once too often, we fear, for his own good.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

[For Additional City Intelligence see Third Page.]

REOPENING OF TRADE.

FROM THE INDICATIONS in our market and from the reports of our neighboring States, it is to be expected that the opening of the fall season is commencing with a great and vigorous demand for all kinds of staples. Early as the season is, our merchants at the watering places, and from their retirement in the country, are hastening to the city to take up their abode. The large calls that are being made upon them, from every indication, there will be a heavy fall trade this season. The streets and sidewalks are crowded with boxes and packages, and all sorts of goods are being brought to the city from all parts of the country—North, South, East, and West. In dry goods especially, there appears to be a very large stock in hand. For the past few months there has been a heavy importation, and large quantities manufactured by our home factories, and there is not being a large demand by the jobbers and retailers, the supply has accumulated. Owing to this fact, prices, as a general thing, average lower than the same time last year, in most cases from ten to twenty per cent. in the wholesaling.

THE COUNTRY merchants from all parts of the interior are well represented. The Western merchants represent business in their section to be brisk and rapidly improving. Our city and New York, indeed, are the scene of the presence of prominent merchants from all the principal cities of the West, and even from the trans-Mississippi region. From the South there does not appear to be so many buyers, nor do these buyers bring with them the usual amount of money, and there are too many scores that were run up last year remaining unsettled for our merchants to give very heavy credit for long.

THE GENERAL feeling, however, is one of hope, and that the crops in the South will be better paying than last year, and will leave a surplusage to pay their bills to the Northern merchants. In general there appears to be a general determination to adhere to the cash system in all our business transactions.

There are some fears that the presence of the cholera amongst us will influence the trade to a great extent, the country merchants having a natural dread of the disease, and our city and New York, indeed, are the scene of the presence of prominent merchants from all the principal cities of the West, and even from the trans-Mississippi region. From the South there does not appear to be so many buyers, nor do these buyers bring with them the usual amount of money, and there are too many scores that were run up last year remaining unsettled for our merchants to give very heavy credit for long.

WHERE SHALL WE LIVE?

FOR those who are settled in a comfortable home in the heart of the city, this question has no particular significance. But with that numerous class which, even in this town of steady habits, are forced to change their habitation once a year or more, it is the one great question of life, and it is superior even to the grand problem of 'What shall we eat and drink, and wherewithal shall we be clothed?' Pondering this matter the other day, we took our seat in a horse-car at the corner of Third and Walnut streets, resolutely upon reconnoitering that indefinite locality on the other side of the Schuylkill which passes under the general title of West Philadelphia. The first thing we noticed was the fact that we were seated in a vehicle which was almost sumptuous in its arrangements and finish. The seats were certainly more comfortable and the decorations more tasteful than any we remember to have encountered on any other line in the city. Inquiring of the gentleman who sat next to us, who appeared to be thoroughly posted upon the general affairs of the road, we were informed that the Chesnut and Walnut streets line were now running forty cars, of which only one was called at the public house, and the rest were placed upon the road at the time that it was opened beyond the Chesnut Street Bridge. These cars, we were assured—and our subsequent observation of them—exterior as well as interior, compared with the other lines, were superior to any in the city for strength, as well as for finish. And yet they weigh but two tons each, while some new cars which have recently been placed upon other enterprises, and which are now being built, weigh several hundred tons. This item, of course, is of no particular consequence to the passenger, but it is of vast importance to the hard-worked animals, whose task it is to drag them through the streets. The cars are now being built and repaired to Alderman Toland's office and lodged information. The services of two officers were secured, and after being secreted in the hotel until the afternoon of the 4th, arrested the defendants.

CORNER LOUNGING.—There have been numerous arrests during the past few days for this offense. It is a very pernicious and young habit, now common among the young men, to sit and lounge around the corners of the streets, especially in front of the corner taverns, and obstruct passers-by. When thus congregated together the cars of ladies passing by are annoyed by their vile language and profanity. It is with pleasure we notice that the police authorities have turned their attention to abating this nuisance.

FOREIGN PERIODICALS.—Mr. A. Winch, No. 505 Chesnut street, has sent us several batches of foreign magazines and literary papers, for which our thanks are due. Mr. Winch has an extensive stock of foreign periodicals, literature, and attends to subscriptions for rare works in a satisfactory manner. His arrangements have been so perfected that an American can now have any foreign magazine, review, or newspaper served at his residence upon the arrival of each steamer from Europe.

A PRIZE.—Yesterday the Harbor Police discovered a skull about sixteen feet long, secreted among the rocks, just above the wharf, on the Delaware front. The skull had been of a light pea-green, but was painted over with black. In it were one pair of ears, one hand, one compass saw, one hammer, one small axe, and one gun blanket. These articles are all supposed to be the property of a man, and other articles are now awaiting an owner.

SLIGHT FIRE.—A fire was discovered in the premises owned by A. J. Adams, in a shoe store, at the northwest corner of Fourth and George streets, about 5 o'clock this morning. The fire broke out in the lower story. An auger hole had been bored in the shutter, and there the fire started. It was extinguished without trouble, and the whole damage will not exceed $200. There was an insurance on the stock of $2000 in the Globe Insurance.

LARCENY OF A ROPE.—Samuel Dummig was arrested yesterday on the charge of stealing a quantity of new rope. He had about twelve or fourteen fathoms of light new rope in his possession, which he was endeavoring to dispose of for fifty cents. When arrested he had found the rope. He was committed by Alderman Titterton to answer. The rope is now at the Southwark Hall Station House awaiting an owner.

A CONSIGNMENT OF APOTHECARY will only sell such preparations as he knows to be valuable. The fact that every reputable druggist in the country keeps a constant supply of MARDEN'S CALSATA TONIC, is ample proof that its efficacy has been thoroughly tested. It is no nostrum, made up of nobody knows what, but a pure extract of the Calcevia Bark, the most approved tonic in the Materia Medica. Depot, No. 471 Broadway, New York. For sale by Johnson, Hollony & Cuden, Wholesale Agents, No. 23 N. Sixth street, Philadelphia, and by all druggists.

TO BE AFRAID OF THE CHOLERA is to increase one's chances of taking it; to exercise ordinary prudence in warding it off is to provide oneself with JAYNE'S CARMINATIVE BALM, and thus be prepared to master the disease in its earliest stages. For the cure of Dysentery, Diarrhoea, Cramps, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Summer Complaint, etc., the Carminative is a sovereign remedy, and of great efficacy. Prepared only at No. 242 Chesnut street.

MULTITUDES OF PEOPLE require AN ALTERATIVE, to restore the healthy action of their systems and correct the derangements that creep into it. Sarsaparilla was used and valued until several impostors were pained off upon the public under this name. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is no impostor.

BEEDING AND LPHOSTERY in all its branches. JOSEPH LIPP, with W. H. Woods, S. W. Cor. Twelfth and Chestnut streets.

A TERRIBLE COLLAPSE has taken place in the financial affairs of Europe. Whether this could have been prevented or can be remedied by the wisest measures is doubtful; but the fearful collapse which makes the critical stages of the Cholera, can be certainly prevented by the use of MARDEN'S ASIATIC CHOLERA CURE. Depot, No. 471 Broadway, New York. For sale by Johnson, Hollony & Cuden, Wholesale Agents, No. 23 N. Sixth street, Philadelphia, and by all druggists.

JOURNALISTIC.

At a meeting of the Press Club of Philadelphia, held yesterday afternoon at their rooms, No. 515 Chestnut street, with committee on opening correspondence with other bodies, Messrs. C. W. Denison, Thompson, Westcott, and Casper Souder, Jr., reported an address to the Press Fund of London, which was unanimously adopted. The Secretary of the Club, Mr. William H. Fisher, Jr., read a letter from Mr. P. J. Ferguson, President of the Press Club of St. Louis, to Mr. L. W. Wallack, of this Evening Telegraph, announcing the gratifying intelligence that the editors and reporters of that city had organized a Press Club successfully, which numbers some thirty professional gentlemen among its membership. The business men of St. Louis came forward promptly, and fitted up the rooms of the St. Louis Club in splendid style, and returned papers therefor, and many of the leading citizens have made donations of books, etc., to the library and cabinet of curiosities. Hon. B. Grant, of the United States Senate, and formerly editor of the Democrat, was the first honorary member elected. The Press Club of St. Louis desire to open correspondence with all societies of a similar nature which may be organized on this continent. Their rooms are at No. 315 Chestnut street, St. Louis, Missouri.

CORRECTION.—In our report of the counterfeiting case, the United States vs. John Moulhart and James Foster, heard in the United States Court yesterday, great injustice was done Mr. Michael Maguire. The facts of the arrest should have read as follows:—On the night of July 2 the accused called at the public house of Mr. Maguire, Dillwyn and Willow street, and left in charge of the proprietor a box, which upon examination proved to contain the bogus bills and other matters incidental to the counterfeiting business. The room at No. 515 and repaired to Alderman Toland's office and lodged information. The services of two officers were secured, and after being secreted in the hotel until the afternoon of the 4th, arrested the defendants.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE. U. S. District Court—Judge Cadwalader.—Charles Smith pleaded guilty this morning to a charge of passing a counterfeit note, and was sentenced to an imprisonment of eighteen months in the Eastern Penitentiary. Thomas Klupp was convicted on an indictment charging him with having in his possession counterfeit United States notes, with intent to pass the same, and was sentenced to an imprisonment of three years in the Eastern Penitentiary. Knapp is an old hand at the business of passing counterfeit money. In this case his arrest was a coincidence, and he was pursuing what may be considered his usual business. He was arrested for being "dead drunk," but when, after being conveyed to the Station House, he was searched, counterfeit money to the amount of two hundred and fifty dollars was found in his pockets, and only seven cents in good money. It is because of this unfortunate event that Knapp retires for three years to the shades of private life.

Court of Quarter Sessions—Judge Ludlow.—The District Attorney mentioned to the Court that having noticed in the papers that an attempt had been made to break into a house in West Philadelphia; that the occupants of the house went to the back door and fired some shots at the would-be burglars; that one John Campbell was arrested on the charge; that a man named John Smith gave securities for Campbell's bail. Smith stated in substance that he had never seen Campbell, nor had he ever heard of Smith before his occurrence. Mr. Ludlow said that he knew no other persons by the name of Smith, and that Mr. Middleton was produced. He stated that he owned the house No. 204 Alder street; that Mr. Houston was his agent; that he bought a house of Mr. Bunting; he knew nothing whatever of the man Smith.

The District Attorney requested the Court to cause Smith to be held to answer a charge of perjury at the present term of the Court. The Court refused to do anything at present in the case other than to hold him in the sum of $5000, to answer the charge of perjury during the present term. John Campbell was then arraigned, and having pleaded not guilty, was tried upon a charge of burglary in breaking into the store of Preston E. Hill, who keeps a store on the Darby road. Mr. Hill was aroused during the night by somebody working at the window, and he got up, slipped on the stairs, and ran down with a gun, and fired at the burglars who were in the dwelling part of the house. He heard him coming, and he jumped into a wagon, Mr. Hill shot, and struck one of the burglars in the head, and he said, "I heard him 'sneak,' as he said. The wagon went off at a furious rate.

On the 21st instant the report of the gun, hurled to the spot. He arrested Campbell about twenty yards from the store. Campbell had a wound upon his face, which was bleeding profusely, as if he had just received a shot. A witness stated that the wagon that drove up to the "Hall," where this wagon of the burglars was dashed up, was hired to John Campbell, and that he was merely riding the horse and gave it to a huckster. The huckster was to give the boy six dollars, but after setting the horse he gave him nothing. Mr. Campbell told Mrs. Jackson that there were three other little boys engaged in this. He expressed sorrow for having done as he did. The defendant said that he was merely riding the horse about the common, and Mr. Parland took the horse and gave it to a huckster who was to give the boy six dollars, but after setting the horse he gave him nothing. Mr. Campbell told Mrs. Jackson that there were three other little boys engaged in this. He expressed sorrow for having done as he did. The defendant said that he was merely riding the horse about the common, and Mr. Parland took the horse and gave it to a huckster who was to give the boy six dollars, but after setting the horse he gave him nothing.

THE FREEDMEN IN KENTUCKY. Outrages Upon Public Schools. THE PAY AND ALLOWANCES FOR PRIVATE SOLDIERS. Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.

WASHINGTON, August 23. The Freedmen's Bureau has reports of outrages upon colored schools at Glasgow, Bowling Green, Paducah, and Mount Sterling, in Kentucky. Preparations are being made to reopen the schools discontinued by force. The feeling of the people towards the blacks and the officers of the Bureau, has been embittered by the late political contest in that State. W. J. Cornin, formerly publisher of the Alexandria (Va.) Journal, is about to start an anti-administration afternoon paper in Washington.

The Administration Fenians are about to issue an address to the Irish of the country. During the Rebellion the pay of privates in the army was raised from eleven dollars to thirteen dollars per month, and the clothing allowance from two dollars and a half to six dollars per month, the increase to continue during the war. It is now stated in military circles that in consequence of the failure of Congress to provide for continuance of enhanced pay in time of peace, one effect of the President's peace proclamation will be to reduce the pay and clothing allowance of soldiers and officers from and after the date thereof to the old standard.

Court of Quarter Sessions—Judge Ludlow.—The District Attorney mentioned to the Court that having noticed in the papers that an attempt had been made to break into a house in West Philadelphia; that the occupants of the house went to the back door and fired some shots at the would-be burglars; that one John Campbell was arrested on the charge; that a man named John Smith gave securities for Campbell's bail. Smith stated in substance that he had never seen Campbell, nor had he ever heard of Smith before his occurrence. Mr. Ludlow said that he knew no other persons by the name of Smith, and that Mr. Middleton was produced. He stated that he owned the house No. 204 Alder street; that Mr. Houston was his agent; that he bought a house of Mr. Bunting; he knew nothing whatever of the man Smith.

The District Attorney requested the Court to cause Smith to be held to answer a charge of perjury at the present term of the Court. The Court refused to do anything at present in the case other than to hold him in the sum of $5000, to answer the charge of perjury during the present term. John Campbell was then arraigned, and having pleaded not guilty, was tried upon a charge of burglary in breaking into the store of Preston E. Hill, who keeps a store on the Darby road. Mr. Hill was aroused during the night by somebody working at the window, and he got up, slipped on the stairs, and ran down with a gun, and fired at the burglars who were in the dwelling part of the house. He heard him coming, and he jumped into a wagon, Mr. Hill shot, and struck one of the burglars in the head, and he said, "I heard him 'sneak,' as he said. The wagon went off at a furious rate.

On the 21st instant the report of the gun, hurled to the spot. He arrested Campbell about twenty yards from the store. Campbell had a wound upon his face, which was bleeding profusely, as if he had just received a shot. A witness stated that the wagon that drove up to the "Hall," where this wagon of the burglars was dashed up, was hired to John Campbell, and that he was merely riding the horse and gave it to a huckster. The huckster was to give the boy six dollars, but after setting the horse he gave him nothing. Mr. Campbell told Mrs. Jackson that there were three other little boys engaged in this. He expressed sorrow for having done as he did. The defendant said that he was merely riding the horse about the common, and Mr. Parland took the horse and gave it to a huckster who was to give the boy six dollars, but after setting the horse he gave him nothing.
